Ravinder Singh was born in a Sikh family in Kolkata. He is a Software Engineer. Ravinder Singh is a young Indian writer who has written so many novels of fiction. The first one I Too Had a Love Story was an adaptation of his real love story. He worked in Infosys for five years. But later quit becoming a full-time writer some of his other works include Can Love Happen Twice?, Your Dreams are Mine Now, Tell Me a Story etc.,

Singh's first book is based on a real life incident of his meeting a girl and his love life. After a six-month search, an editing them who published the book. The book was unveiled at a press conference in Chandigarh by Anupam Mittal. He also launched mid-2011. I Too Had a Love Story is also published in Kannada language, entitled Nannadu Ondu Prema Katha.

Love is a very strong emotion that moved the author to write. He lost his girlfriend five days before his planned engagement in 2007. It was the most unfortunate year for the author's life and he says that he felt angry with God for taking away the love of his life. He says that he was adamant that this was not how he wanted his story to end. He wanted an relieve to his story so that he started writing about the eight months of courtship he had with his lady love Ms. Khushi. And that is how his book I Too Had a Love Story happened. The novel sold over a million copies and has been able to immortalize Khushi. People talk about her as if she is alive.

One day he will be gone from this planet too but his first love will always remain and live on. This is how the author became a romance author. I Too Had a Love Story has become a classic as it ruled the Indian top ten novels for the longest time. Interestingly no money was spent on its marketing till date. The author himself manages an own social networking accounts and spend a couple of hours replying back to readers on facebook and twitter daily.

The author Ravinder Singh is currently the biggest romance writer in true country. His total desiflavour of writing has wooed fans all over the country his books. He is always regularly tweeting and facebooking on relationships and what are the best things that make a relationship. This romantic star loves being in touch with his fans and is listening to what young India feels on love. He is our foremost popular author.

The author Ravinder Singh tried to out pur his feelings in his first novel and helped the readers make a connection with the hero. His love life was shattered from the death of his first love Khushi. He took years to cope-up with the incident. His success got him fame and way out of this tragedy but also engulfed him in rumoured affairs and Ravinder Singh breakup. Is Ravinder Singh married to Simar? Well much to his dismay author Ravinder Singh and Simar photos are not available on sites and there has been no truth in it. He is currently married to Khushboo Chauhan.

Author Ravinder Singh is one of the most acclaimed romance-fiction based Indian author. Ravinder Singh new books are being anticipated by all readers that might cover up for his last novel which did not make much of an impression. Ravinder Singh upcoming novel and Ravinder Singh next novel shall storm the markets pretty soon and might have a different and unique tale to tell.

Apart from his solo writings his combined effort on Love Stories That Touched My Heart with ArkaDatta was also another sincere attempt. Ravinder Singh boxset and the author himself received humongous appreciation from his countable books Ravinder Singh awards have adorned his writing career. His book was acclaimed by many illustrations writers and the former CEO of INFOSYS Narayan Murthy had appreciated his work whole-heartedly.

Ravinder Singh has had a sad love affair that had inspired him to move to writing. Ravinder Singh girlfriend's name and his first story was the interest of most of the readers. He had met his first girlfriend through a matrimonial website but she passed away in the year 2007. Her sad demise had left the author broken and shattered.

He adapted his own love story in his first novel I Too Had a Love Story. The story shall definitely give you firm notion on Ravinder Singh first girlfriend Khushi and their love affair. The relation lasted till they were formally engaged and her sudden death dawned darkness in his love life. Ravinder Singh Khushi wiki is tragic but their love tale did have a powerful story that touched millions of hearts. They were supposed to meet on a Valentine's Day but a truck had crashed into Khushi's car and she later succumbed to her injuries leaving the author all distressed and miles away from the faith in God.

Consistent readers of Ravinder Singh's novels have attested that Can Love Happen Twice? Can be treated as a sequel to Singh's bestselling I Too Had a Love Story and eventually dealt with the tragedy of her death, Can Love Happen Twice? portrays how even true love can happen more than once as Ravin meets Simar; he finds the pain in his heart decrease and develops a liking for her; although Simar is no replacement for Khushi that's complicated and grey-shaded the area of love is what's devastating is that he suffers the loss of love yet again as things don't work out with Simar. Simar leaves him on the same day that he lost Khushi. A book that explores pain and misery and worldly emotions so intensely, is a must have for all book-lovers out there.

Ravinder Singh is a Computer Engineer by profession but his flair for writing has embossed his name as a popular Indian author. Ravinder Singh famous novels include three amazing novels written by him but Ravinder Singh first novel I Too Had a Love Story had garnered unmatched recognition and success, this book is inspired from his real life incident it was unveiled by Anupam Mittal at a press conference in the city of Chandigarh. Ravinder Singh new book Can Love Happen Twice? After his first book also shared equal attention and was well accepted by the Indian readers.

Ravinder Singh Can Love Happen Twice? Book review stated both the positive and negative points associated with the story which was believed to be a sequel of his first book for the promotion purpose. The book is a romance based novel and shared story like a typical Bollywood flick. Ravinder Singh new novel name Like It Happened Yesterday which was released in the year 2013. It was Ravinder Singh latest book. His first book was considered sincere and spontaneous and the second novel was dramatic but Ravinder Singh's Like It Happened Yesterday story, the third novel was found to be a futile attempt. This romance-fiction author had emerged as one of the highest selling author and but a little flaws in his last book might have deprived him from this title.

Conclusion:

As per the author says, it's a true story of two people who deeply in love with each other, and decided to spend rest of life with each other. Khushi, the protagonist of story was a very simple decent and selfless girl who loves Ravin with all of her heart.

Regarding, the truth of this incident. Author Ravinder Singh one to one but as per his narration in the novel was deep, touchy, everyone tends to believe by instinct. He shows the feeling of love and pain of losing someone dear with very small and cute events which you might not narrate so well unless you feel them.

Not everyone in this world has the fate to cherish the fullest form of love. Some are born, just to experience the abbreviation of it. Love stories with a tragic end are beautiful in their own particular way. Some love stories never die. They remain for generations yet to come to read them again... but sorry to say, but this is not one such story.
